PRETTY THINGS TO INSPIRE YOUR WEDDING-DAY STYLE

CHIC STACKERS

Canadian jewellery retailer bluboho (bluboho.com) is the place to stock up on cool stackers to complement your engagement ring—they have a beautifully curated selection of delicate pieces conveying a sense of free-spirited luxury. Shop in store or online for everything from Nora Kogan’s coveted 14-karat gold “Mrs.” signet rings to bluboho’s own exclusive line of diamond-adorned bands.—Jen O’Brien.

Vintage Vibes

We’re smitten with the dreamy lineup of retro-inspired gowns by designer Trista Smith’s Reclamation label (etsy.ca/shop/reclamationbytrista) based in Victoria, British Columbia. “My line fuses reclaimed fabrics with new materials to create one-of-a-kind pieces infused with meaning, intention and purpose,” Smith explains. “My current collection merges the sultry silhouettes of the Roaring ’20s with all the romance of boho-chic style. The results are dresses that flow and move with weighty crochet lace and have sleeves for days.”—Alison McGill

Best Dressed

The tuxedo is the chicest choice for style-savvy grooms and according to Shannon Steward, head buyer at Harry Rosen, the hottest look is the one-button, peak-lapel tuxedo like this one from Canali. “This classic style has endured the test of time,” Steward says. “It’s timeless and elegant. Any groom (or groomsman) wearing this can have confidence he is going to be a seriously sharp-dressed man.—A.M.

DREAM HEELS

For almost five years, The September (theseptember.com) has been a go-to online destination for well-heeled Canadian fashionistas in the know. Now, with the opening of their first retail location in Toronto, “it” shoes from brands like Jimmy Choo, Alexandre Birman, Aquazzura and Lanvin are even more accessible—great news for brides wanting to splurge on designer wedding footwear.—J.O.

Affordable Luxury

Birks has launched a new line of engagement rings every budget-conscious couple will adore. The Birks Bloom collection includes a stunning selection of timeless diamond solitaires set in 18-karat gold. Ranging from $2,995 for a half-carat centre stone to $8,995 for a one-carat diamond, these perennial classics boast iconic Birks glamour at a fraction of the price. Birks (maisonbirks.com) exclusively uses Canadian diamonds, which are ethically sourced and engraved with a maple leaf and unique diamond identification number.—J.O.
